His father, Pietro Bernardone, was a wealthy textile merchant, which afforded Francis a privileged upbringing. His mother, Pica, was also from a merchant family. Growing up in a prosperous household, Francis was exposed to the comforts of wealth and social privilege.

Teenage Years and Early Ambitions

In his youth, Francis was known for his lively personality, love of parties, and a penchant for fashion. He initially sought a career in the military and participated in several local conflicts, demonstrating a daring and spirited nature.

Despite his lively lifestyle, Francis experienced a series of spiritual and personal crises that would lead him to a radical change in life direction. His early experiences laid the foundation for his later devotion and humility.

Spiritual Awakening

Around 1202, Francis experienced a spiritual awakening after a series of personal and social upheavals. One pivotal moment was his captivity during a military conflict, which led him to reevaluate his values and priorities.

His desire for a more meaningful life grew, and he began to withdraw from worldly pleasures. Inspired by the Gospel teachings, particularly Matthew 10:8 ("Heal the sick, raise the dead, cleanse those with leprosy, drive out demons"), he felt called to live in poverty and serve others.

Rejection of Wealth and Embrace of Poverty

Francis decided to abandon his inheritance and material possessions, choosing a life of radical poverty. He sought to emulate the life of Jesus Christ and the Apostles, believing that material wealth was a barrier to spiritual growth.

The Rule of the Franciscan Order

With the support of local bishops, Francis and his followers formulated a rule of life that prioritized poverty, chastity, and obedience. This rule became the foundation of the Franciscan Order, officially approved by Pope Innocent III in 1210.
